PROCLAMATION

By JAMES WHITCOMB, Governor of the State of Indiana.

The approaching close of the year eighteen hundred and Hendricks, forty-six, naturally suggests to the reflecting mind the duty Henry, of giving utterance to that deep feeling of gratitude to our Divine Benefactor, which the countless blessings, spiritual Huntington and and temporal, that have been plentifully showered upon us, Jackson, Among these gracious favors and privileges, will be gratefully borne in mind, as not the least, the happy pre-ervation of our civil institutions, based as they are upon the popular sovereignty, and designed to secure to all, equal personal liberty and equal rights, civil and religious;—the rich return Knox, of our teeming fields to the labors of the husbandman; -the limited mortality as compared with the late general sickness; the preservation of life, and the growing restoration of health among the residue; and above all, the gracious offers of Lake and Porter, mercy and of reconciliation, from a Just God to an erring Laporte.

I do respectfully recommend that Thursday, the twenty- Lawrence, sixth day of November next, be set apart and observed by the people of the State as a day of public thanksgiving and praise—that they abstain from their secular avocations, Marion, and assemble in their usual places of religious worship; and, uniting with each other, and with their fellow citizens of Miami, many of the other States, in such manner as they may deem | Monroe, most appropriate, that they render the tribute of their hearty thanks and joyful praise to ALMIGHTY God for these and the Montgomery, innumerable other blessings which the experience of each Morgan, one may suggest, and that they may pour out their hearts to Nobie, His that his rich smiles may be continued to our beloved Ohio and S., country; and that the gracious bounties and favors of the year, may be crowned by the termination of the wars in Owen, which we are engaged in an early, a just, and an honorable Parke,

In testimony whereof I have caused the seal of Perry, the State to be bereunto affixed. Witness my Pike, hand at Indianapolis, the twenty-seventh day Posey, of October, in the year eight hundred and forty-six.

The Journal of Commerce observes, that after all the fuss, the only member of either House of Congress Spen who voted for the new Tariff bill,-the Hon. David St. Joseph. WILMOT, of Bradford county, -is re-elected; while Sullivan, the greater part of the "Tariff-of-1842" democrats have been left at home, as it was very proper they should be. Moreover, the results of this election have given Mr. Wilmet a co-adjutor from his own Vermillion, State, in the person of the Hon. CHARLES BROWN, of Vigo, Philadelphia county. Mr. Brown is decidedly op- Wabash, posed to the Tariff of 1842, and as between that and Warren, the new Tariff, will unquestionably support the latter. Thursday, 16th April. Electrified and thunderstruck with astonishment, Mr. Myers immediately went to his dwelling house, where he then found Mr. Hoyt in close conversation with his wife! He handed the above note to her to read, and without saying a word left the room and retired to his office. Mr. Hoyt soon after followed him, and declared the contents of the note were basely false-that Mrs. M. was a pure and saintly woman, and promised to prevent any further suspicion, that his visits should cease at once. Mr. Hoyt then left for his room in Exchange Hotel. Not long after-
